

FP03-0276-00

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5 A method of introducing a substance into plant tissue whereby the substance is introduced into the tissue of a plant having branches through the branch, wherein the substance is absorbed through conductive tissue of the branch while inhibiting means is carried out in order to inhibit transpiration through a leaf on the branch or to inhibit water requirement by the leaf.

10